LONGWORTH REPUDIATES SPEAKER CANNON MONGOLIA'S GREAT BAND OF TOURISTS

Big Excursion Party Arrives

Mongolia Brings Many From Southern California---On Way To Orient

One hundred and eighteen people, drawn mainly from the Pacific Slope, but a number coming from the Middle and Eastern States, are viewing the beauties of Honolulu and vicinity today.

They are here under the direction of W. M. Milne, representing the Los Angeles Examiner.

The party is on a round-trip tour to the Orient. They will be gone about seventy days, and it is the present intention for them to remain with the palatial Pacific Mail liner Mongolia and return to the Golden West by that vessel.

The excursionists do not hesitate in declaring that they are having the time of their lives. They come mainly from the business and professional class. All are plentifully supplied with good old coin of the realm and do not appear at all shy in parting with the accumulated wealth whenever a fair run for it is assured.

Purser Ludvigson of the Mongolia was up to his head and shoulders in work this morning as the Mongolia steamed through the channels.

MAN INJURED ON PALI ROAD

Runaway Mule Causes Accident To Driver

Edward Haleakala is in the Queen's Hospital as the result of an accident on the Pali road yesterday. It appears that Haleakala was driving down the other side of the Pali, when his mule became frightened and tried to bolt down the steep grade. The driver, fearing that the wagon would go over the cliff, forced the mule to run into the wall of rock on the safe side. The shock threw Haleakala out of the wagon and the vehicle passed over his body, injuring his chest and breaking a couple of ribs.

The injured man was made as comfortable as possible in a cottage at the foot of the Pali and, Mayor Fern, who happened along in an automobile, saw that Haleakala was made easy. The mayor then informed the Kaneohe police of the matter, and advised that a telephone message be sent to Honolulu for the police patrol wagon. Through some misunderstanding this was not done, and a mounted police officer went from Kaneohe to the place, where the injured man was resting.

When Fern returned along the road he was surprised to find Haleakala in the same place as he had seen him some hours before. No telephone message had been sent, and the man had laid all day in the same position. The Honolulu police were notified at once and the new H. P. D. automobile went out and brought the injured man to the hospital where he is at present doing well.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—Analysis of the returns from the primary elections show that the insurgent Republicans have nominated a sufficient number of their candidates to control the Legislature, if they are finally elected. This tends to assure the election of Judge Works as United States Senator.

United Against Andrews' Regime

Republicans Will Be Ready To Back Up Charges Before Committee

Republicans of Manoa precinct, opposed to the domination of Lorrin Andrews, are preparing to utter a united protest to his continuance in office as an employee of the party, at the special meeting of the Territorial Central Committee to convene tomorrow evening.

The train of evils that will follow in the path of Andrews and the general endangering of the welfare of the party will be plainly stated if the members of the Territorial Central Committee desire further light on the subject. This attitude of the leading Republicans of Manoa has already been carefully explained to the committee members, however, and they are fully cognizant of the opinions that are held by the Manoa Republicans as to the effect that Andrews will have upon the Republican party.

"The opposition to Andrews will most assuredly continue, even in the event of the Territorial Central Committee failing to take action at the meeting tomorrow," said a leading Republican of the Manoa precinct this morning. "We do not propose

DIVORCE CASE OF NORGAAARDS

Order To Show Cause Brings Out Some Admissions

One hundred and fifty dollars a month temporary alimony, counsel fees of $100 and court costs of $13 were awarded in the order to show cause of Norgaard divorce case this morning.

It was agreed before the hearing started that the details of the case would be left for the trial of the libel in which Mrs. Norgaard makes such sensational charges, but there were words dropped here and there during the testimony of both Mrs. Norgaard and the doctor on the stand which gave evidence of underlying sensations which will be sprung later.

Mrs. Norgaard testified that she had had no decent clothing for four years, since she had been in Honolulu, and that she was so shabby that she could not receive her friends or go out in "ordinary polite society." Her health, she said depended much on her temperamental, and that was evidently an unknown quantity.

Mrs. Norgaard is staying at Young Hotel and paying $50 monthly for her room, for herself and son. She testified that the boy, who was in court on crutches, had had no new clothes for some time, and that he should be under medical treatment.

She had a horse and carriage given her but later her husband had taken it away. It was needed to take the boy to and from school as he could not get on and off street cars.

Her credit was no good and she had been refused in several stores in Honolulu because credit which had formerly been extended had not been settled for promptly by her husband.

On cross examination by Donahitt Mrs. Norgaard admitted having

GUNNING FOR FLYING FISH

Sport Bids Fair To Become Very Popular

"Shooting fish" has sometimes been classed as a difficult undertaking but it now lies with John and Will Young, the launchmen and justly famous shark hunters to introduce a new form of sport for Honolulu.

Flying fish are never more plentiful than in the waters adjacent to Honolulu. The Young brothers now propose to go after the winged fish and their hunting trips are expected to be prolific in both pleasure as well as profit.

The fish are said to come to the surface of the waters just outside the harbor limits in large numbers during the early hours of the morning. Young brothers have several good sized and well equipped launches at their command. To the sportsman who essays a hitherto untold "game preserve" the fleet of Young brothers is at their disposal.

The matter has been under consideration through the local promotion committee and the Young brothers for some time. The flying fish is exceedingly gamey and when skipping out of the water and on the wing, he is a mighty lively creature. Some of the fish seen in these waters are of large size. Native and Japanese fishermen are bringing them into the markets each day by the basketful. They find a ready sale.

The proposition which Messrs. Young have submitted to the consideration of the promotion committee is to have a launch placed at the service of such tourists as are confirmed nimrods. The expeditions would be conducted along the same line as the deep sea fishing excursions that are so much heralded along the coast of Southern California.

In time it is predicted that flying fish shooting is destined to become as famous as well as exciting sport as is the "big fish" killing at Catalina and Santa Barbara.

DEMOCRATIC LEGISLATORS

Several Are Groomed For Coming Race

There is much grooming of possible winners in the next legislative race at the Democratic jockey these days.

Whenever two or more of the "great untiered" are found gathered together at a downtown street corner, the chief topic of conversation invariably drifts towards the consideration of a bunch of eligibles for senatorial honors, possible members for the House or candidates for mayor and city and county supervisors.

"Senator Charles McCarthy's term of office expires this year, and when he has been passed through the 'milling' of the convention he stands a good show of succeeding himself," was the statement coming from one prominent Democratic worker this morning.

"McCarthy has now separated himself from his business interests, and we have the assurance that he will make a warm fight for a return trip to the upper house."

"Then there is J. L. Coke, the lawyer, who is in the hands of his friends. Coke is one of the names that is almost certain to go before the convention on the senatorial ticket."

"He is an Elk and, besides, is affiliated with other fraternal organizations. Should his name be found on the ticket, Coke can be relied upon to develop considerable strength."

"J. S. Kalakala is another time-tried follower of Jeffersonian principles who has been more or less frequently mentioned in Democratic councils these days as possible timber for the ticket."

"It might add that Dr. J. H. Raymond has been the central figure in several conferences among party leaders. Dr. Raymond has been induced to consider the advisability of making a run for Senator."

"The Fifth District has been pretty well canvassed for eligibles for the House. Thus far we have prevailed upon four Democrats to permit of their names being enrolled as candidates who are to come before the convention. Of this number are Daniel Kamahu, Edward

T. K. K. JOINS GOULD LINE

Traffic Agreement With Pacific Mail May Terminate

A move that may prove of vital importance to Hawaiian business interests is now said to have been made whereby the Toyo Kisen Kaisha, the Japanese line which has been operated in connection with the Southern Pacific since 1888, has transferred its business to the Gould lines. The change came as a result of the visit to New York city of Director Shirashi of the Japanese line. The agreement with the Harriman lines was that the freight officials there and in San Francisco should act as representatives of the Japanese concern. One of the Toyo Kisen Kaisha ships was to run every three weeks, alternating with one of the Pacific Mail steamships and one of the Oriental and Occidental Company.

The details of the new arrangement were not learned and nothing beyond the confirmation of the report could be had at the offices of the Gould lines. It is understood, however, that the Harriman interests did not make extreme efforts to retain this business, as its volume of freight is not great and a part of it will naturally come to them anyway. The new agreement is to go into effect on the first of next year.

That this change portends a cancellation of the existing agreement between the Japanese line and the Pacific Mail is believed possible.

The story that has reached Honolulu through the Mongolia mail is not substantiated at San Francisco, it being claimed there that nothing is known concerning a new alliance between the T. K. K. and the Gould line.

Later, when General Manager Schwerin of the Pacific Mail Company passed through and announced the intention of his company to build two new mammoth liners, it was understood that they would take the place of the steamships of the Japanese line in case they went over to the Western Pacific, but the dispatch from New York contains the first official confirmation of the new deal, which will result in two competing lines of steamships sailing from this port to the Orient.

KITT RETAINS HIS COMMAND

Held Not Responsible For Mongolia Grounding

As a pleasant surprise to a large number of friends, Captain E. P. Kitt was found on the bridge of the big Pacific Mail liner Mongolia early this morning as the vessel appeared off the quarantine and it is intimated that Kitt will be retained in the service of that company despite the fact that he was in command of that liner when she went ashore in Shimodzu harbor.

Notwithstanding that it has been positively asserted that the "unwritten law" in Pacific Mail circles does not permit the retention of an employee who has directly or indirectly been responsible for loss or damage to property, it would seem that Captain Kitt may afford at least one exception to the rule.

Upon the completion of the examination made of the Mongolia while at San Francisco, the corps of United States inspectors filed a report in which it is stated they did not attach any responsibility to Captain Kitt for the stranding of the Mongolia.

At any rate the skipper is making another voyage to the Orient. His vessel will proceed as far as Manila on the present trip as she is well laden with a shipment of supplies for the United States government, some of which goes to the quartermaster department while the remainder are supplies for Cavite naval station.

Captain Kitt will know definitely concerning his future status with the Pacific Mail Company upon the return of Vice-President and General Manager Schwerin, who is now touring the Far East on a business mission.

Captain Morton the former Pacific Mail skipper has been granted a vacation covering a period of two round trips of his vessel.

The Mongolia was along side the Alakea wharf by half past eight o'clock. The trip down from San Francisco was much enjoyed by near
